Extension of Warranty Period to Three Years for Orient Star and Orient

Effective 1 July 2026, Orient Star and Orient will extend the standard warranty period to three years worldwide. Previously, the standard warranty period for Orient Star and Orient was one-year. With this revision, both brands will offer a three-year warranty, enabling customers to use their timepieces with greater confidence.

In addition, a retroactive application period of three months will be introduced. Products purchased between 1 April 2026 and 30 June 2026, will also be eligible under the new warranty terms.

ORIENT

Orient Star and Orient have consistently maintained high levels of quality by pursuing improvements at every stage, from design through to assembly. With the extension of the warranty period, we will further enhance the range of support services and ongoing after-sales services provided for watches purchased by our customers. We remain committed to continuous quality improvements and will continue to deliver products and services that earn the trust and confidence of our customers.
